CONSTRUCTION VOLUME INDEX, COMPARED TO PREVIOUS MAXIMUM

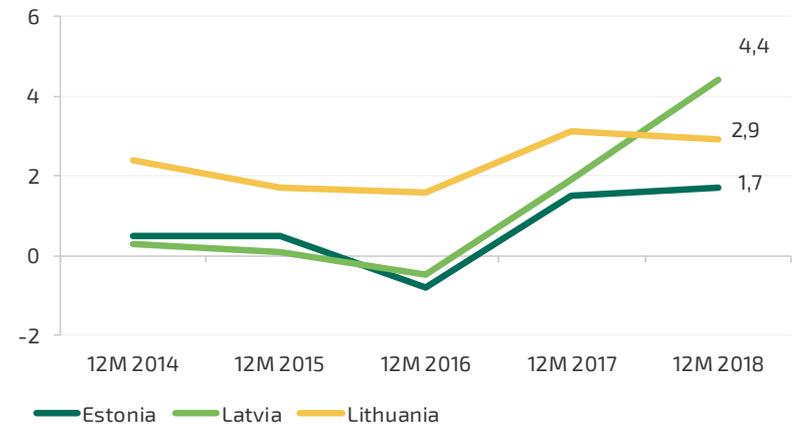

4 quarter running average

12 MONTHS CHANGE IN CONSTRUCTION PRICE INDEX

percentages

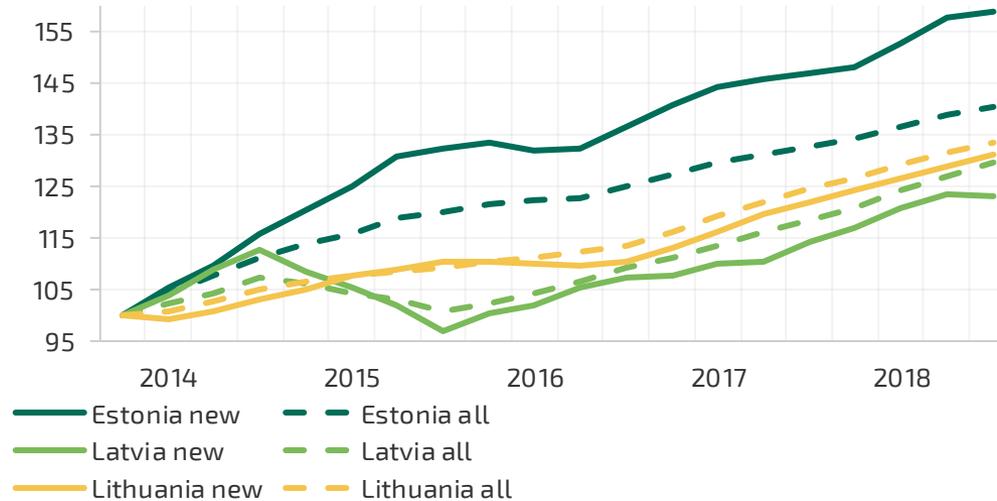

Source: Local national statistical offices

- ❑ In Estonia, construction volumes outstripped the booming years' peak in 2007 by about one-tenth; some caution is called for in regard to further developments
- ❑ Rapid growth in Latvia and Lithuania, but volumes lower by some one-quarter compared to the peak of previous booming years; compared to Estonia, more room for additional growth
- ❑ Last few years have been a highly active time in the Baltic construction sector: acute problem of finding sufficient number of high-quality subcontractors, prices rising
- ❑ Dynamics of public sector demand continues to be an important issue in the longer perspective, including the volume and timing of construction works related to Rail Baltica

NEW AND ALL (dotted line) DWELLINGS QUARTERLY HOUSE PRICE INDEX

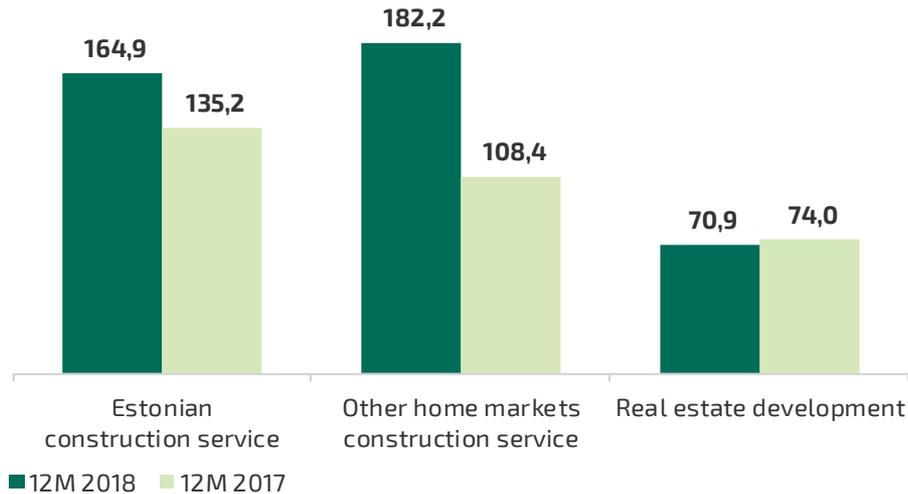

(4 QUARTER ROLLING AVERAGE) (2013=100)

- ❑ In Estonia, the number of permits for use issued for new residential units reached the level seen at the peak of the boom era
- ❑ In Lithuania, more use permits have been issued for new housing than at the height of 2008 for couple of years already
- ❑ Development sector in Latvia remains stable – no such major growth as in Estonia and Lithuania
- ❑ Clear trend of rising apartment prices in all three Baltic states; prices have risen at the same pace with personal incomes, so it does not in itself pose a risk to the general economic environment
- ❑ Supply of new apartments has increased: price level has stabilized and sales periods somewhat longer
- ❑ Success is defined by quality, location and the cohesiveness of the development area

GROUP 12 MONTHS' REVENUE BY SEGMENTS

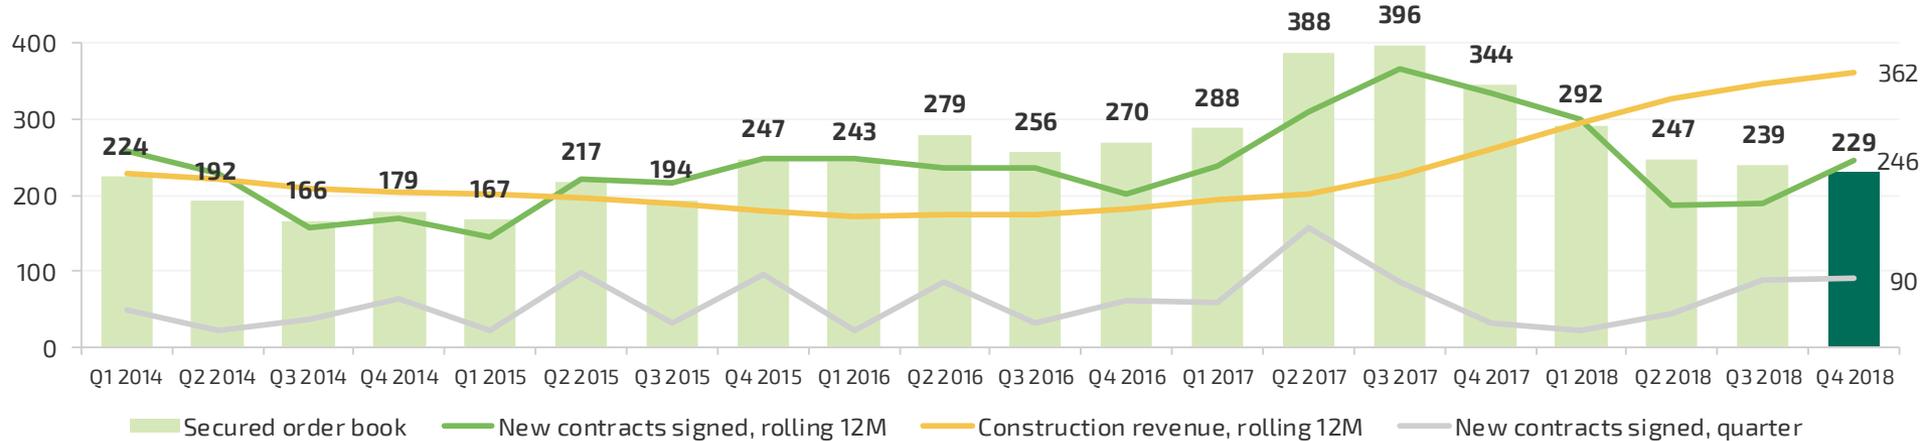

in million euros

- ❑ Group's revenue increased in all Baltic countries, doubling in Latvia

2017: Estonia EUR 191m, Latvia EUR 80m, Lithuania EUR 35m, Norway EUR 12m
- ❑ Growth in revenue was supported by several major ongoing projects in Latvia and Estonia
- ❑ Problems of availability of building design and subcontracting resources exacerbated risks related to on-time completion of construction and financial risks
- ❑ Profitability of fixed price contracts under pressure due to increase in construction input prices
- ❑ Group participates in procurements for such objects where the risk-reward ratio matches our goals
- ❑ Rise in construction prices is slowing growth in the volume of new orders on the market
